ON THE 'LAKE FRONT

JUSTIN Timberlake and Jessica Biel are house hunting together in NYC. The cozy couple recently toured a condo duplex loft at the Lion's Head building in Chelsea.

"They were quite impressed," says our source.

The West 19th Street unit has three bedrooms, two baths and 16-foot ceilings. JT and JB apparently were 'N Sync over the outdoor Finnish sauna, which Timberlake referred to as "smooth."

The 2,224-square-foot pad in the Alchemy-developed doorman building is listed at $2.9 million. That price includes chandeliers and five TVs (see story and more images on page 44), and the owner will throw in all his furnishings for $100,000.

We're told that both Jimmy Fallon and Lauren Weisberger have also looked the place over. And Chelsea Clinton was supposedly interested, but her security required that the building have a concierge.

If JT and JB do buy here, Justin might have a drinking buddy when Jessica is getting her beauty rest, since limoncello producer/quaffer Danny DeVito has a pad in the building.
